with Stranger than Fiction.

Writer of Christmas stories has a more wonderful tale of the sort at that which reaches us from the past. So long back as 1871, William Scoresby, a whaler, was lost on a ship on a reef of one of the farthest islands of the North Atlantic. He chartered a small boat and sailed off to the rescue of his vessel, and after a long and arduous journey, he found the ship at Epi, the island where the wreck had been found in 1871. The vessel was found in a state of complete ruin, and the crew had been killed, and while he was on the island, he found the remains of the crew.
